

Handover

During first meeting with client, the project is contained in github.com and it has an existing client repository fork. The handover Contains in a 'Pull request from fork to original project. Now The client can able to review the repository and if the client wants to accept the merge with its current repository. All documentation instructions are presented in the repository.

For more details on how to install, deploy operate and continue developing with this project can check:

<https://github.com/Melb-Uni/PL-Bluering#readme>